Provincial Government Employees

The human resource or workforce of the provincial government is composed of 4,460 individuals holding the status of elected officials, permanent employees, temporary employees, co-terminus, contractual employees, casual and the job orders. Still, majority of the provincial government employees holds a permanent status of employment. This is an advantage for the provincial government in order to ensure a stable resource of highly equipped and functional manpower despite the change of administrations.

In 2011, the Provincial Government of Cavite has a total human resource workforce of 4,460 employees. A decrease on the number of employees was recorded from 2012 to 2013.

There are nineteen elected officials that serve as the core of governance. The Local Chief Executive serves as the guide on the development track of the province. He is being supported by the Vice-Governor along with a set of legislative body that creates various ordinances and resolutions in support of the development direction of the Governor. There are also positions that are classified as co-terminus or those that has tenure that ends along with the end of political terms of certain politicians such as executive assistants, among others. Currently, 112 employees hold the status of co-terminus. Around 867 are casual employees, 48 are temporary and 23 are contractual (Table 9B). The bulk of the manpower is holding the Job Order status.

Provincial Government Offices

The provincial government of Cavite operates like a system composed of organs. The different departments serve as organs wherein they have specific functions that contribute to the total operation of the provincial government. It has to be ensured that each departments function well in order to have coherent and effective governance.

Currently, there are 21 provincial offices headed by department heads, nine of which are considered as units and nine (9) provincial satellite hospitals. These satellite hospitals have designated Chiefs of Hospital.

The provincial government composition took an innovative approach by undertaking a new organizational composition. Specifically, the administration was divided into three areas such as, internal affairs, external affairs and community affairs. Each department was grouped according to the nature of their operation. This system made the monitoring easier (Table 9C and 9D).
