

Chapter 6.

Economic Sector

Agriculture

Agriculture is the science, art, or occupation concerned with cultivating land, producing crops, and feeding, breeding and raising livestock (dictionary.com); and these were among the agricultural activities that the farm workers had been actively involved with. Furthermore, fishery is also another major component of the agricultural sector wherein the province is home to numerous fishery activities providing livelihood to many Caviteños and food production source, as well. Aside from the coastal areas, there are also other lowland and upland municipalities and cities that have minimal areas devoted to fresh water fishponds.

The total area devoted to agriculture has been declining. In 2012, the area was 71,590.71 hectares; in 2014, this was reduced to 64,296.10 hectares, a decrease of 7,294.61 hectares. Generally, this was attributed, according to the Office of the Provincial Agriculturist to the conversion of these lands to residential/ subdivision development and industrial areas, other areas are categorized as forest and Network of Protected Areas and Agro-Industrial Development (NPAAD) and there are areas that are no longer cultivated and were used for other purposes.

Out of the agricultural area, 37,618.10 hectares which is almost 26.36% of the land area of the province came from 7th District, 7.67% or 10,947.96 hectares comprised 6th District, 5th District has 11,449.78 hectares or 8.02% while 2,045.56 hectares or 1.43% is from 4th District. In addition, 3rd District has 1.18% or 1,684.00 hectares while 1st and 2nd Districts was recorded at 250.70 hectares and 300.00 hectares agricultural land, respectively. Moreover, non-agricultural area totaled to 78,409.90 hectares. (Table 6A and Figure 6A). The municipality of Silang has the biggest area intended for agriculture with 9,318.41 hectares while Cavite City, except for some parts of the coastline area with coconut trees, has no longer available land for agriculture related activities and industries.

Crop Production

Despite the decrease in agricultural area and Cavite being a center of countryside industrialization, the province has still a lot of potentials in the production of corn, coffee, vegetables and other high value crops. Cavite's fertile and alluvial soil types and favorable climatic condition make it highly suitable for crop production. The lowland areas are suited for rice, corn and vegetable production. The central area is recommended for diversified farming such as cultivation of upland rice, corn, sugarcane, vegetables, root crops, coconut, coffee, mangoes and other fruits. The upland area is suitable for cut flowers, orchard and pastures (The Provincial Local Government Units Agriculture and Fisheries Modernization Plan 2015-2020, Cavite Province).

Crop production is the major component of agricultural activities in the province. Presently, the total area planted to crops was registered at 86.37% of the total agricultural area or 55,530.97 hectares. Of these, 16,752.66 hectares are devoted to food crops registering production volume of 85,407.69 metric tons, while 38,747.15 hectares are planted with industrial/commercial crops. Meanwhile, 31.16 hectares for cutflowers, ornamentals & sampaguita industry posted production volume of 66,810.29 dozen, 186,134.17 pots and 8.20 metric tons respectively. The farmers that worked in the area totaled to 77,091 (Table 6B).

Generally, majority of the crops dropped in production and these could be attributed to the diminishing production area, both planted and harvested area, the unexpected occurrence of typhoons and high cost of farm inputs.

Table 6C shows the area planted to crops and its production by city/municipality. The municipality of Magallanes, having the widest planted area contributed the highest crop and coconut production of 191,286.33 metric tons and 23,964,701 nuts respectively. This could be due to double croppings of certain crops and the presence of sugarcane industry contributing production volume of 184,000.00 metric tons. The municipality of Silang, despite having the biggest area for agriculture ranked second for crop production registering 33,844.83 metric tons produced wherein pineapple registered the strongest growth in production with 17,249.79 metric tons. In addition, Silang ranked fourth in producing coconut and is noted for its cut flowers and ornamental industry having 37,663.33 dozens and 183,585.17 pots respectively. The municipality of Rosario with 27 hectares agricultural land has no allotted area for crop production.

It is noted that of the seven districts in the province, 7th District registered a crop production of 279,177.55 metric tons while 5th District has 35,969.56 metric tons produced. Moreover, 6th District which includes 8.20 metric tons of sampaguita harvested at Trece Martires City posted a production of 33,063.23 metric tons while 4th and 3rd Districts contributed 20,170.04 metric tons and 9,693.82 metric tons, respectively. The least crop production of 761.73 metric tons was recorded at 2nd District, the City of Bacoor. In terms of coconut industry, data gathered from Philippine Coconut Authority shows that the leading producers of this crop are the municipalities of Magallanes, Gen. E. Aguinaldo and Indang, all from 7th District contributing 57,595,077 harvests or 71.59% of the total coconut production. Production from 7th District totaled to 66,372,824 coconuts. Furthermore, bamboo plant which was harvested from the municipality of Maragondon also contributed production of 250,000 poles.

Total area planted to crops

- 55,530.97 hectares or 86.37% of the total agricultural area by which 30.17% or 16,752.66 hectares are devoted for food crops, 69.78% or 38,747.15 hectares are planted with industrial/commercial crops and the remaining 0.06% or 31.16 hectares are planted with cut flowers/ornamentals and sampaguita.

Food Crops

Rice

Rice is the seed of the grass species Oryza sativa or Oryza glaberrima. As a cereal grain, it is the most widely consumed staple food for a large part of the world's human population, especially in Asia (Wikipedia). Rice or locally known as palay, bigas, kanin is common to the Filipinos that are rarely ever missing on the table, be it breakfast, lunch, or dinner. A Filipino meal cannot be complete without it, even amidst huge gatherings and regardless of a resplendent menu. Even when it comes to merienda or snacks, rice is the Philippines' staple food (Bureau of Agricultural Research (BAR) Research and Development Digest).

In Cavite, rice is grown in lowland areas and is also evident in the upland areas of the province. With a total harvested area of 11,592.31 hectares, rice production was posted at 48,609.60 metric tons by which 18,085.06 metric tons or 37.20% came from 7th District, 32.82% or 15,955.93 metric tons from 6th District, 5th District contributed 1,388.67 metric tons or 2.86% while 4th District, the City of Dasmariñas was registered at 4,706.75 metric tons harvest (9.68%). In addition, 1.38% or 670.90 metric tons are harvested from 2nd District, the City of Bacoor and 944.93 metric tons from 1st District (Table 6D).

The table also shows that the top producers of rice are the municipalities of Naic (10,035.35 metric tons), Gen. Trias (9,503.11 metric tons), City of Imus (6,857.36 metric tons), Maragondon (6,846.36 metric tons), and Tanza (6,836.82 metric tons). The least producers are the municipalities of Indang and Alfonso producing 4.50 metric tons and 5.25 metric tons, respectively.

Corn

Corn is the second most important crop in the Philippines. Corn can be processed into high value products, such as cornstarch, corn syrups, corn oil, gluten and snack foods (www.da.gov.ph). It is a rich source of calories and is a staple among dietary habits in many populations. Corn not only provides the necessary calories for healthy, daily metabolism, but is also a rich source of vitamins A, B, E and many minerals. Besides being a delicious addition to any meal, it is also rich in phytochemicals, and it provides protection against a number of chronic diseases (www.organicfacts.net).

Corn production in 2014 reached 4,946.63 metric tons, a decrease of 1,060.31 metric tons compared to 2013's harvest of 6,006.94 metric tons. This was harvested from 1,215.21 hectares wherein the City of Dasmariñas contributed the highest production of 36.88% or 1,824.40 metric tons followed by the municipality of Silang having 924.13 metric tons harvest or 18.68%. The municipality of Maragondon ranked third with 356.00 metric tons while the least producer, the municipality of Amadeo, has only 0.33% harvest or 16.50 metric tons (Table 6E).

Vegetables

Vegetables, like fruits, are low in calories and fats but contain good amounts of vitamins and minerals. All the Green-Yellow-Orange vegetables are rich sources of calcium, magnesium, potassium, iron, beta-carotene, vitamin B-complex, vitamin-C, vitamin-A, and vitamin K. As in fruits, vegetables too are home for many antioxidants. These health benefiting phytochemical compounds firstly; help protect the human body from oxidant stress, diseases, and cancers, and secondly; help the body develop the capacity to fight against these by boosting immunity (www.nutrition-and-you.com).

Grown year round, vegetable production is an important source of additional income for Cavite farmers. Data gathered indicates a decrease in vegetable area from 1,977.00 hectares (2013) to 1,778.89 hectares (2014). This contributed to the 5,721.41 metric tons decrease in production in spite of continuous support and assistance of the provincial government to vegetable growers with various material production inputs like seeds, fertilizers and farm equipment. In 2014, production was registered at 19,886.74 metric tons. As indicated in Table 6F, the municipality of Alfonso is the top vegetable producer with 3,801.15 metric tons while the municipality of Ternate was considered the least producer contributing 30.66 metric tons.

Root Crops

Root crops are found to be essential to the body's wellness as these are teeming with vitamins, notably Vitamin C, carbohydrates and minerals like calcium, iron, and zinc which our body needs. An added bonus: root crops are also rich source of soluble dietary fiber. Studies on soluble dietary fiber have shown this to help lower bad cholesterol and help prevent tumor growth in the colon (www.bellaonline.com).

With harvested area of 797.95 hectares, production of root crops totaled to 11,964.72 metric tons. The municipality of Silang has the highest production registered at 34.80% or 4,164.15 metric tons, followed by the municipality of Maragondon having 1,386.60 metric tons or 11.59% share. The municipality of Magallanes ranked third contributing 11.55% production or 1,381.48 metric tons while the lowest production was registered at 2nd District, the City of Bacoor posted at 5.00 metric tons (Table 6G).

Industrial/Commercial Crops

Coconut

The term coconut can refer to the entire coconut palm, the seed, or the fruit, which, botanically, is a drupe, not a nut. The coconut is known for its great versatility as seen in the many uses of its different parts. Coconuts are different from any other fruits because they contain a large quantity of "water" and when immature they are known as tender-nuts or jelly-nuts and may be harvested for drinking. When mature, they still contain some water and can be used as seednuts or processed to give oil from the kernel, charcoal from the hard shell and coir from the fibrous husk (Wikipedia).

Coconut ranks first among the province's industrial crops in terms of hectareage. With the efforts of the national government through the Philippine Coconut Authority personnel based in the province, total area planted for coconut production was maintained at 17,007.90 hectares. This was worked by 14,027 farmers, thus producing almost 80M coconuts. The major coconut-producing municipalities came from 7th District wherein the municipality of Magallanes contributed the greatest production posted at 29.79% or 23,964,701 coconuts. Moreover, the municipality of Gen. E. Aguinaldo contributed 18,513,965 coconuts or 23.01% of the total harvest while the municipality of Indang registered 18.79% production or 15,116,411 coconuts. PCA's data also indicates that Tagaytay City was considered the least producer contributing to only 30,375 coconuts (Table 6H).

Coffee

Coffea is a genus of flowering plants whose seeds, called coffee beans, are used to make coffee. It is a member of the Rubiaceae family. It ranks as one of the world's most valuable and widely traded commodity crops and is an important export product of several countries. Coffee is a brewed beverage prepared from the roasted or baked seeds of several species of an evergreen shrub of the genus Coffea. The two most common sources of coffee beans are the highly regarded Coffea arabica, and the "robusta" form of the hardier Coffea canephora. Once ripe, coffee "berries" are picked, processed and dried to yield the seeds inside. The seeds are then roasted to varying degrees, depending on the desired flavor, before being ground and brewed to create coffee (Wikipedia).

There are 8,906.24 hectares dedicated to coffee production, which accounts for 13.85% of total agricultural land of the province. This declined by 155.10 hectares, from 9,061.34 hectares in 2013 but despite the decrease, among the industrial crops grown in Cavite, coffee still ranks second in terms of hectarage. The provincial government through the Office of the Provincial Agriculturist is continuously providing seeds and seedlings of different varieties to augment the farmers' needs on attaining additional income. In addition, the office also extended the provision of mechanical equipment and technical expertise.

Coffee is one of the high value crops of the province and known for its best quality produced in the Philippines. An increase in production (560.12 metric tons) was attained from 6,994.03 metric tons (2013) to 7,554.15 metric tons (2014) and out of this, the major variety harvested is Robusta, which accounted 94.13% or 7,110.96 metric tons, the other varieties are Excelsa and Liberica with 377.87 metric tons and 65.32 metric tons, respectively. The municipality of Amadeo, having the widest area devoted to this crop leads among the coffee producers with 44.85% production or 3,388.05 metric tons, followed by the municipality of Silang with 17.77% harvest or 1,342.05 metric tons and the municipality of Alfonso with 879.23 metric tons or 11.64% production (Table 6I).

Banana

Banana is available for harvest throughout the year and being one of the best sources of potassium, is a favorite food for everyone. In 2014, production performance of this crop was affected by Typhoon Glenda wherein a decline of 30.18% was recorded. Compared with 2013 production of 26,061.77 metric tons in, it reached to only 18,196.20 metric tons. As presented on Table 6J, the municipality of Maragondon shared the highest production registered at 17.44% or 3,173.60 metric tons. Ranked second was the municipality of Gen. E. Aguinaldo having 2,405.12 metric tons or 13.22% production followed by the municipality of Amadeo with 12.57% production or 2,286.50 metric tons. Lowest production was observed at 16.00 metric tons from City of Bacoor.

Pineapple

Aside from being nutritious and delicious, pineapple can be processed into juice, jam, vinegar, nata de pina, preserves and candies. Its leaves are a source of a remarkable strong and silky fiber that can be processed into cloth and cordage. Even its skin and waste from canning can be pulped and dried for livestock feeds (www.businessdiary.com.ph). In addition to consumption, in the Philippines the pineapple's leaves are used to produce the textile fiber piña-employed as a component of wall paper and furnishings, amongst other uses (Wikipedia).

Table 6K shows that the province's planted area was posted at 1,531.36 hectares. This produced a volume of production registered at 29,106.55 metric tons. Among the pineapple producers of the province, the municipality of Silang, having the widest area shared the highest production contributing 59.26% or 17,249.79 metric tons while Tagaytay City which ranked second, contributed 3,674.66 metric tons or 12.62% production. The other top pineapple-producers came from the municipalities of Indang contributing 2,937.50 metric tons or 10.09% production, Mendez having 5.39% share or 1,570.00 metric tons, Alfonso registered at 1,426.60 metric tons or 4.90% and the City of Dasmariñas with 1,245.00 metric tons. In addition, the least production was recorded at 47.20 metric tons from the municipality of Magallanes.

Mango

Mango is the third most important fruit crop of the country based on export volume and value next to banana and pineapple. It has established domestic market and has bright opportunities for the international market (fresh or processed form). The country's export variety, the 'Carabao' is one of the best varieties in the world (hvcdp.da.gov.ph).

Mango is popular for the sweet taste and aroma. This tropical fruit is abundant and cheap during the warm summer months but in off-peak seasons, it is a scarce commodity. However, mangoes can still be enjoyed throughout the year through processing. Among the most popular processed mango products are dried, puree, juice, jam, juice concentrates, among others (www.businessdiary.com.ph).

Mango production was registered at 20,593.46 metric tons, an increase of 335.63 metric tons compared to 2013 production of 20,257.83 metric tons. This was harvested from 1,320.26 hectares wherein the municipality of Naic registered the highest production with 6,036.75 metric tons or 29.31% followed by the City of Dasmariñas producing 16.27% or 3,350.00 metric tons. The municipality of Indang, having 163.25 hectares production area ranked third contributing 11.77% share or 2,424.75 metric tons (Table 6L).

Among the mango variety harvested in the province, carabao mango attained the highest production with 66.38% or 13,669.74 metric tons. Other varieties harvested are piko (3,299.26 m.t.), indian (2,011.36 m.t.) and sapadera (1,613.10 m.t.)

Papaya

Papaya is one of the most common tropical fruits in the Philippines; fruits are available throughout the year. Ripe fruits are eaten fresh, used to make fruit salads, or made into jam, jelly, marmalade, puree, paste, ice cream, fruit in syrup, concentrate and candies. Unripe fruits are cooked as vegetable, pickled, or as source of papain, an enzyme used in food, feed, beverage, medicine, and industrial products. It is high in vitamin C, iron, calcium, phosphorus, thiamine, riboflavin, carotene and niacin content (www.pcaarrd.dost.gov.ph).

Papaya production in the province is also affected by Typhoon Glenda. Having a harvested area of 261.24 hectares, production dropped to 2,838.15 metric tons from 2013's 3,751.91 metric tons. Based on production, the largest producer was the municipality of Silang contributing 34.58% share or 981.45 metric tons followed by the municipalities of Alfonso (16.12%) and Indang (11.05%). The other leading producers are the municipalities of Amadeo, Magallanes and Gen. E. Aguinaldo (Table 6M).

Peanut

Peanut (Arachis hypogaea L.) or groundnut has been a popular crop in the Philippines. It is widely consumed as boiled in-shell peanuts, as salted fried peanuts, as processed peanut butter and as ingredient in the manufacture of confectioneries. It is ideal as a food ingredient because of its aroma, flavor, and crunchy texture (www.pcaarrd.dost.gov.ph).

In Cavite, peanuts are grown and harvested in 138.75 hectares producing 155.00 metric tons. As indicated in Table 6N, out of the cities/municipalities of the province, the only peanut producers are the municipalities of Silang, the highest contributor with 52.01% share, Amadeo, Gen. Trias, Alfonso, Gen. E. Aguinaldo, Indang, Magallanes, City of Dasmariñas and Trece Martires City.

Sugarcane

Fresh sugarcane is used in a number of cuisines around the world, especially in Southeast Asia and other tropical climates. Sugarcane can be consumed fresh in stalks or, more commonly, as a refined sugar or a juice. Sugarcane, particularly when it has not undergone a heavy refinement process, offers a number of nutritional benefits, making it a healthy alternative to refined white sugar (www.livestrong.com).

Sugarcane production accounts to 201,378.53 metric tons and harvested from 2,755.37 hectares. As shown in Table 6O, this crop is mostly planted at City of Dasmariñas, municipalities of Gen. Aguinaldo, Maragondon, Naic and Magallanes, the largest producer registering 91.37% of the total production or 184,000 metric tons.

Black Pepper

Locally known as "paminta", black pepper is the fruit of the black pepper plant from the Piperaceae family and is used as both a spice and a medicine. The chemical piperine, which is present in black pepper, causes the spiciness. When dried, this plant-derived spice is referred to as a peppercorn, and is then ground into a powder to be put on food to add flavor and spice (www.organicfacts.net).

The total area harvested to black pepper was estimated at 451.56 hectares. This registered 463.59 metric tons production wherein the municipality of Gen. Aguinaldo posted the highest contribution of 37.75% share or 175.00 metric tons. This was followed by the municipalities of Alfonso with 106.53 metric tons or 22.98% production and Silang with 81.35 metric tons (Table 6P).

Dragon Fruit

Dragon fruit is an exotic and delicious fruit that is widely promoted throughout the world as having a number of health benefits including its ability to lower cholesterol, boost the immune system, prevent cancer and heart disease, and help in the overall functioning of the body's systems (www.organicfacts.net).

The province's planted area to this crop totaled to only 20.00 hectares and these are particularly located in the municipalities of Amadeo, Gen. E. Aguinaldo, Indang and Magallanes. Among the four (4) municipalities, Indang has the widest area and considered the major producer of this crop registering 92.65% of the total production or 170.00 metric tons (Table 6S).

Bamboo, Cutofflowers, Ornamentals and Sampaguita

Some farmers in the province also engaged in bamboo, cut flowers, ornamentals and sampaguita production. Bamboo, being one of the most popular raw materials for furniture and decorations, has a total planted area of 1,000.00 hectares located at the municipality of Maragondon. Known as the bamboo capital of the province, bamboo farmers from the said municipality produced 250,000 poles that can be made into different bamboo products.

With a planted area of 23.66 hectares for cutofflowers and ornamentals, a total production of almost 67,000 dozens of cutofflowers and 186,000 pots of ornamentals had been produced with municipality of Silang as the major producer. The other cutofflower and ornamental producing city and municipalities are Trece Martires City, Alfonso, Gen. E. Aguinaldo, and Amadeo. Meanwhile, sampaguita with utilized area of 7.50 hectares located at Trece Martires City has a total production of 8.20 metric tons (Table 6T).

Fisheries

Fishery refers to all activities relating to the act or business of fishing, culturing, preserving, processing, marketing, developing, conserving and managing aquatic resources and the fishery areas, including the privilege to fish or take aquatic resource thereof (Section 4 Definition of Terms RA 8550 The Philippine Fisheries Code of 1998).

Fishery is also one of the vital areas of agriculture sector in the province. It is also one of the main sources of livelihood and food production source wherein the Cavite fisherfolks are engaged in smoked fish (tinapa) processing, fish drying (daing), fish paste (bagoong) making, fish sauce (patis) making and canning. Table 6U shows that the total number of fishermen was registered at 16,955 and these came from 102 coastal barangays of the province. The municipality of Naic has the most number of fishermen with 4,778 followed by the municipality of Rosario with 3,606 fishermen. In addition, there are available fish landing areas in the province. The municipal fish landing areas are located in Cavite City, Tanza, City of Bacoor, Naic, and Ternate while commercial landing areas are located in Rosario and Tanza (Table 6V).

Municipal Fisheries

Municipal fishing is fishing within municipal waters using fishing vessels of three gross tons or less, or fishing not requiring the use of fishing vessels. Operation is within the municipal government jurisdiction of 15 kilometers (investphilippines.gov.ph).

Municipal fisheries have been carried out using motorized and non-motorized banca which were recorded at 4,981. Total volume of production reached 7,102.06 metric tons. Performance dropped down by 1,814.14 metric tons compared to 2013 production of 8,916.90 metric tons. Having the highest number of banca, the City of Bacoor registered the biggest fish catch with 1,656.00 metric tons followed by the municipality of Tanza having 1,368.40 metric tons production. Ranked third was the municipality of Naic recorded at 1,069.00 metric tons while the least production was 167.53 metric tons from the municipality of Kawit (Table 6X).

Aquaculture Fisheries

Aquaculture – fishery operations involving all forms of raising and culturing of fish and other fishery species in fresh, brackish and marine water areas (investphilippines.gov.ph).

As presented in Table 6Y, there are 583 operators that are engaged in production of bangus, sugpo and tilapia. Production of these species totaled to 555.90 metric tons wherein the municipality of Ternate posted the highest production at 32.20 metric tons for tilapia and the municipality of Kawit (159.80 metric tons) for bangus production. Moreover, sugpo productions with 122.80 metric tons are concentrated in the municipalities of Kawit, Noveleta and City of Bacoor. Aside from the coastal areas, Trece Martires City, the municipalities of Amadeo, Gen. Trias and Alfonso have minimal areas devoted to tilapia production contributing a total of 10.67 metric tons.

Oyster and mussel are also abundant and has made the province one of the places known for these delicacies. As indicated in Table 6Z, the major producers of mussel are Cavite City and the City of Bacoor while oysters are harvested mostly from the municipality of Kawit. Production of oyster and mussel totaled to 24,923.10 metric tons.

Livestock and Poultry

Livestock farming is the rearing of animals for food and for other human uses. The word 'livestock' applies primarily to cattle or dairy cows, chickens, goats, pigs, horses and sheep. Today, even animals like donkeys, mules, rabbits and insects such as bees are being raised as part of livestock farming. Livestock farming is a double-benefiting system - it helps the farmers both economically and supplies them with food throughout the year (www.ad-nett.org).

Livestock and poultry play a vital role in agriculture, not only do they produce food directly, but for many smallholder farmers, these can be a ready source of cash to buy the inputs (seeds, fertilizers, and pesticides) they need to increase their crop production.

Backyard Livestock and Poultry Population

Livestock and poultry production in the province of Cavite is predominantly of backyard scale. It is noticeable that most of the animals are raised in backyards rather than in commercial farms.

Total backyard livestock and poultry inventory by type of animal was shown in Table 6AA. Based on records gathered from Office of the Provincial Veterinarian, the highest populations amongst the livestock animals are swine having 42,464 heads followed by cattle (26,139) and goat (17,621 heads). The least population belongs to carabao (3,656), horse (2,539) and sheep (199), respectively. Likewise, it is noted that raising of chicken was the primary poultry raising activity in the province and it was evidently seen on the table where inventory was posted at 166,151 heads. Raising of ducks ranked second reported to have raised 30,059 ducks. For livestock raising, the municipality of Maragondon has the highest number of swine registered at 5,684 heads while excluding quail, the municipality of Gen. Trias contributed the highest poultry inventory.

Agrarian Reform

The Department of Agrarian Reform (DAR) is the lead agency mandated by the government to ensure the success of Comprehensive Agrarian Reform Program (CARP) through Land Tenure Improvement (LTI), Agrarian Justice Delivery (AJD), and Program Beneficiaries Development (PBD).

The Land Tenure Improvement (LTI) component seeks to secure the tenurial status of the farmers and farm workers in the lands they till. It is operationalized either through land acquisition and distribution (LAD) or leasehold operations. LAD involves the redistribution of government and private agricultural lands to landless farmers and farm workers. It secures farmers' tenure, promotes social equity, and provides them with necessary productive resources needed to ensure their economic viability and productivity. Leasehold operations, on the other hand, are the alternative non-land transfer scheme. It covers all tenanted agricultural lands such those in the retained areas, not yet acquired for distribution under CARP, and those which may be validly covered under existing laws.

Agrarian Justice Delivery is one of the core programs of the CARP. DAR has the primary jurisdiction to determine and adjudicate agrarian reform cases and provide free legal assistance to Agrarian Reform Beneficiaries (ARBs) involved. There are two AJD programs, namely: the adjudication of agrarian cases and agrarian legal assistance. The agrarian legal assistance is composed of mediation and conciliation, administrative resolution of agrarian law implementation (ALI) cases, and provision of legal assistance representation/counseling to ARBs.

Program Beneficiaries Development (PBD) is a support service delivery component of the agrarian reform program. It aims to capacitate the Agrarian Reform Beneficiaries (ARBs) and provide them access to necessary support services to make their lands more productive, and enable them to venture in income generating livelihood projects (www.dar.gov.ph).

DAR Cavite Report

DAR Cavite has three major final outputs, namely Land Tenure Services (LTS), Agrarian Legal Services (ALS) and Technical Advisory Support Services (TASS).

Under the Land Tenure Services, for the year 2014, DAR Cavite was able to acquire 141.1868 hectares of agricultural lands in which 113.2671 hectares were distributed to 110 Agrarian Reform Beneficiaries (ARBs) in the municipalities of Gen. Trias, Maragondon, Ternate, Naic, Tanza and Silang (Table 6AF). Meanwhile, under non-LAD component, 12,9094 hectares were placed under leasehold operations involving 7 ARBs. As of December 2014, land acquisition and distribution's cumulative accomplishment reached 9,920.0255 hectares (Table 6AG).

In Agrarian Legal Services, 33 cases were resolved under Adjudication and 122 conferences were conducted to settle conflicts thru Alternative Dispute Resolution. In addition, 260 conciliation/mediation conferences were conducted to amicably resolve agrarian conflicts/disputes. On the other hand, 373 trainings were conducted to 6,666 ARBs under the Technical Advisory Support Services. The trainings increase the capabilities of ARBs in managing their own agri/non-agri enterprises as well as the cooperatives or farmers' organizations in which they are members. DAR Cavite is assisting 25 ARB organizations in the different ARCs to strengthen and develop them as micro-finance service providers.

Industry, Commerce, Trade, Entrepreneurship, and Cooperatives

Industrialization is a process in which a society or country (or world) transforms itself from a primarily agricultural society into one based on the manufacturing of goods and services. Individual manual labor is often replaced by mechanized mass production and craftsmen are replaced by assembly lines.

Since industry is the production of goods or services within an economy and a factory is a traditional symbol of industrial development. Cavite province is manifested by an increasing number of industrial establishments. It is still considered the best-loved destination of investors. The trust and confidence still remains in the province. It offers lower cost of labor and shows higher manpower capability so more businessmen have been encouraged to establish business outsource manufacturing jobs in the province.

The number of industrial locators in the province is maintained and the number of industrial establishments increased from 898 in 2013 to 933 in 2014 (Figure 6B).

Among the cities and municipalities, Rosario has recorded the highest number of these industrial establishments with 284 followed by Carmona with 270 and City of Dasmariñas with 113. The 5th District consisting of municipalities of Carmona, Silang, Gen. Mariano Alvarez (CarSiGMA) have the most number of operating industrial establishments with 364 followed by 1st District with 286 and 4th District with 113 industrial establishments (Table 6AH).

Banks and Non-Bank Financial Institutions

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) classifies financial institutions into two (2) categories: (1) the broad category of banks constituting the Philippine banking system which is composed of universal and commercial banks, thrift banks, rural and cooperative banks; and (2) non-banks with quasi-banking functions such as financial cooperatives, savings and loans associations, pawnshops and microfinance institutions.

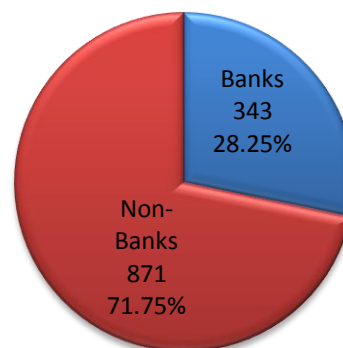

In the province of Cavite, the total number of financial institutions under the supervision of the BSP reached 1,214 [up by seven (7) institutions from year ago's 1,207]. Banks account for 28.25% [up by four (4) banking offices at end of December 2014], while the 71.75% are non-bank financial institutions (slightly down from 10 banking offices last year) (Table 6P and Figure 6C).

The top five locations for banking activities are in the cities of Dasmariñas, Bacoor, and Imus and in the municipalities of Gen. Trias and Rosario. These locations are densely populated and urbanized, making them sustainable for business and other industries. These economic considerations make these cities/municipalities as primary locations for banking activities (Figure 6E). Meanwhile, the 4th and 5th class municipalities such as Amadeo, Magallanes, Maragondon, Ternate and Gen. E. Aguinaldo have the least number of banking offices. Establishing banks in these areas is a challenge due to low population and its socio-economic situations (Table 6AS).

Non-Bank Financial Institutions

Non-bank financial institutions (NBFIs) are financial institutions that do not have a full banking license but they facilitate bank-related financial services, such as investment, risk pooling, contractual savings and market brokering. Only NBFIs with quasi-banking functions (NBQBs) and those without quasi-banking function but are subsidiaries and affiliates of banks and NBQBs are subject to BSP supervision. NBQBs are financial institutions authorized by BSP to borrow funds from 20 or more lenders for their own account through issuances, endorsement or assignment with recourse or acceptance of deposit substitutes for purposes of re-lending or purchasing receivables and other obligations.

As of end-December 2014, NBQBs operating in the province consist of one (1) financing company which is located in the City of Imus while there were 870 Institutions without quasi-banking functions operating in Cavite. Majority are consisting of pawnshops. The City of Dasmariñas has the most number of pawnshops (163) followed by the City of Bacoor and City of Imus with 144 and 122 institutions, respectively (Table 6AT).

Automated Teller Machine (ATMs)

Automated Teller Machine (ATM) is a computerized machine that plays a vital role in facilitating the banking services to banks as well as customers. It is the backbone of retail banking sector. The concept of ATM is 24 x 7 x 365. This technology is simple, safe and secure.

Number of ATMs is one of the indicators that represent both the information and communication technology (ICT) capacity and financial liquidity/development in the locality. It also represents stable electronic connection in the local government units.

By banking group, universal and commercial banks hold the largest share of the entire ATM network at 85.96%. The remaining shares went to thrift banks at 13.08% and rural banks at 0.96%, respectively.

On-site ATM machines are set up in the premises where there is a bank branch. Off-site ATM machines are set up on a standalone basis, which is located in malls/commercial establishments. In Cavite, the total number of ATMs reached to 627, composed of 311 on-site and 316 off-site. These ATMs were mostly operated by universal and commercial banks (Table 6AU).

DTI Registered Business Names

In 2014, a total of 16,338 local firms registered through the business name registration with the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) Cavite Office which is about 14.27% higher than 2013 figure of 14,007 firms. The figures continue to increase every year because many businesses are being set up by those considered in the micro medium & small enterprises (MSME) sector due to existing favorable market forces and business environment.

DTI oversees the registration of business names. With a registered name, a firm will be able to get various documents and permits in order for business to go on full operation. It also distinguishes the products and services from those of competitors and helps establish the firm's identity in the marketplace.

The DTI intends to rollout further online initiatives that would integrate business registration-related processes across business registration agencies to facilitate ease of doing business, promote transparency, curb corruption, and reduce red tape in the bureaucracy.

Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises

Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) are considered as formal business sector considering that they provide employment to significant number of people. An MSME is defined as any business activity or enterprise engaged in industry, agri-business and/or services that has: (1) an asset size (less land) of up to PhP100 million; and (2) an employment size with less than 200 employees. Based on these categories, it is classified as micro, small or medium regardless of the type of business ownership, that is, single proprietorship, cooperative, partnership or corporation. The basis of classification is the asset size and the number of employees (Table 6AV).

The evident increase of users of motorcycle had a great impact in the nature of MSMEs. A lot of establishments engaged into the sales of motorcycles and its parts. The rampant use of motorcycles is a sign that the people now prefer to have their own means of transportation rather than taking the public transport because of increasing amount of fare and uncontrollable traffic in some areas. The people also find convenience in using their own transportation thru the motorcycles.

Employment in MSMEs

MSMEs provided a total of 191,543 jobs in 2013 or 56% of the total jobs generated by all types of business establishments. Large enterprises generated 150,544 jobs. Among MSMEs, micro enterprises created 98,788 (29%) jobs, while small and medium enterprises generated 71,151 (21%) and 21,604 (6%) jobs, respectively (Figure 6H). With MSME employment, the wholesale and retail trade, repair of motor vehicles and motorcycles establishments generates largest number of jobs, 63,677; followed by manufacturing, 45,862 jobs; and 24,339 jobs in accommodation and food services.

The most number of employees were observed under the manufacturing sector with 161,348. This is for the reason that they are majorly comprised of large enterprises that are engaged on mass productions. These companies have large employment size thus despite their small number, they still incur the most number of employees in aggregate (Table 6AX).

Tourism

Tourism is travel for recreational, leisure or business purposes. The World Tourism Organization defines tourists as people "traveling to and staying in places outside their usual environment for not more than one consecutive year for leisure, business and other purposes". It has become a popular global leisure activity. Tourism is important, and in some cases, vital for many countries. It was recognized in the Manila Declaration on World Tourism of 1980 as "an activity essential to the life of nations because of its direct effects on the social, cultural, educational and economic sectors of national societies and on their international relations.

Accommodation, Entertainment & Leisure Facilities

Complementing Cavite's wide variety of tourists attractions are prominent and world-class hotels and resorts, training institutions, and other tourism establishments such as health clubs and spas, tourist inns and apartelles which ease stress as experienced by visitors who come from the busy streets of Manila and the neighboring towns and provinces.

Visitors are captivated by the beauty of Tagaytay City, the highest point of the province which is famous for its Taal Volcano view, the smallest active volcano in the world. Moreover, a legion of accommodation facilities offered in the coastal towns and the historic Corregidor Island are also best suited to particular preferences of guests belonging to different market segments.
